A legal matter on your mind?

You do not need to know its legal classification. Start with what you need, and we will clarify the next step.

I have a case or dispute

Assess the matter and documents, explain the options and provide representation within an agreed scope.

I need a clear contract

Draft or review a contract and explain obligations and risks before signing or during performance.

I need advice before deciding

Discuss the matter, assess its legal aspects and consider the available options in light of the facts.

Understand the matter. Then define the way forward.

A clear step from the outset.

For businesses and individuals, our work begins with understanding the matter and agreeing its scope.

01

Understand your needs

A general outline, the purpose of your request, and any upcoming hearing or deadline.

02

Clarify scope and fees

Identify requirements, necessary documents, the service and fees before work begins.

03

Agree the next steps

Advice, document review or an agreed action, with clear next steps and follow-up arrangements.

When are fees confirmed?

Fees depend on the nature of the matter, the scope of service and the assessment required. They are explained before work begins.

What should you send first?

A general outline without party names, ID details or sensitive documents. Document delivery by email is arranged after a telephone conversation.

Initial contact is not legal advice or acceptance of an engagement. Sending a message alone does not mean action will be taken or a deadline accepted.

Listen first. Then advise.
